the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are employed in the public sector has increased from 10.5 million to 12.5 million, and the number of people in the public sector who are employed in health care has increased from 1.5 million to 2.5 million (Department of Health 2000).

There are a number of reasons why the public sector has become an important part of the UK economy. One reason is that the public sector has become a major employer of people in the UK. Another reason is that the public sector has become a major provider of services in the UK. A third reason is that the public sector has become a major source of income for the UK government.
